Magento New Arrival Subscription Extension User Guide

New Arrival Subscription Extension

The extension of Magento with "New Arrival Subscription" has come with many more benefits for the online eCommerce store owners. It is almost imperative to promote through a notification to the customers about any new launch of a product in the form of an email.

With the help of this extension, it is possible to automatically send the emails to the customers in automotive mode. Once this extension is installed, the extension link will be visible on the footer and the customers, who have subscribed to your eCommerce store, will get a notification through an email as and when a new product is launched.

How will "New Arrival Subscription" Extension work?

The customer has a navigation choice on the home page of header/footer and side panels for new arrival subscription. The customer can able to subscribe from front end regarding particular category from all the listed categories of the website and then When a product is assigned to a particular category and saved by the admin, it automatically turns out to be auto-subscription. For this, the user will get an email notification that the particular product is created under his/her subscribed category. The admin will be able to manage the subscription from the Magento backend.
